

Ryedale Table Tennis League

December 2008 Newsletter

Christmas greetings to all RTTL players!

It's another exciting season in Ryedale with fierce competition in all three divisions and everything to play for. It's great, once again, to see lots of new faces in the league joining the seasoned veterans and established youngsters.

We also lose people from time to time, of course, and in 2008 we had to say goodbye to one of the league's most memorable characters, Reg Cammidge – the 'prince of quippers' as John Gascoyne knew him. Reg died in the summer aged 69 and we'll miss him. He's pictured below between Cliff and John. Andy Seed

Reminders

- It is not acceptable to call off a match on the day – this has led already led to justifiable complaints this season. Please refer to the League Rules in the handbook
- All team secretaries must make sure that matches postponed to date are played before Jan 1st.
- Many scorecards are again missing the 'most sporting scores' on the back. Some are also missing the date, result and even, in one scarcely believable case, the teams...
- New players can be registered up to Jan 31st – simply inform Andy Seed.
- Press coverage this season has been fantastic and Andrew Chappell has requested more photos and reports – these can be sent by email via the website
- Please also send cards or email results to Andy Seed by Sunday each week so that tables and news reports are kept up to date.

Points to note

- First round matches should be played during the week of Jan 5th.
- Any team unable to fulfil their first round match by Jan 23rd should concede the tie.
- If your team progresses, please arrange your next match right away.
- Scorecards should clearly be marked KO or Bower Trophy and sent to Andy Seed within 3 days of the match.
- Matches consist of nine singles games. Each game is one set, first to 42, unless a player with a minus handicap is playing: see below for details.
- Only players listed in the handicap list attached are eligible to play in this competition.

Team KO scoring and rules

Matches consist of 9 singles sets. In the event of a tie (as shown on the right), the overall points must be added.

In games between two players on a plus handicap, there is one set up to 42 points, two serves each, change ends at 21.

The score is written on the card, as right, then the handicap points added to find the winner.

In games involving a player on a minus handicap, the lowest handicap is converted to a plus and added to 42 to determine the length of a game. Eg, if a player on -8 plays someone on +2, there will be one set to 50, change at 25.

Week — Date played — 24.1.06		— & —		— & —		10
Signed — Ma Lin — Timo Boll		— & —		VERSUS		X

Game 1 here is played to 49 because Boll has a -7 handicap (42+7, see). Boll wins 42-41 after his handicap is taken off and Wang's is added on. Game 4 is a tie at 57-57, so each team gets half a point. The match is a 4½-4½ draw, so the overall points are added up. Shanghai win by 433 to 423. I hope that's clear.
